British Make Daring Raids on Germans

CROSS CHANNEL IN QUICK DASH AGAINST ENEMY

Capture of Prisoners To Learn Invasion Plans Called Purpose of Action.

By The Associated Press

Daring raids by British naval and military landing parties on German-held "enemy coastline"—apparently to seize prisoners for information on Nazi plans to invade the British isles—were reported by the British ministry of information today.

The raids were described as "reconnaissances" — probably scouting parties—and there was no immediate indication that Britain planned to send another expeditionary force to resume the fight on the continent.

"Landings were effected at a number of points," the ministry said, "and contact was made with German troops.

"Casualties were inflicted and some enemy dead fell into our hands."

In the armistice-enforced lull in land fighting, Germany and Britain swapped punches across the channel in air raids that left four Germans dead and at least six British civilians killed and six wounded.

Nazi warplanes attacked between midnight and dawn for the fifth time in eight days, raining bombs from the south coast of England to Scotland.

Five Planes Shot Down

At least five raiders were downed by anti-aircraft fire and fighter planes.

Germans meanwhile indicated that the final terms on which Adolf Hitler expects to reorganize Europe will not be disclosed until his war with England is ended. They said armistice terms imposed on France were designed merely to meet war conditions and did not foreshadow the nature of the final peace settlement.

While England waited for Germany to strike with her full power, the fate of the French fleet, which the Bordeaux government agreed to surrender under the armistices with Germany and Italy, remained a major subject for speculation.

Tricolor flags flapped at half mast on French warships with the British in Alexandria yesterday—but the French made no move to sail back to France to surrender.

Nor did all France's empire kneel beside her in defeat.

From North Africa came a declaration that crack Moroccan troops would defend every inch of North African territory.

Armistice Terms Revealed

From Berlin and Rome were announced the full provisions of the armistice pacts with France—twin pacts shaped to the same pattern.

Immediate return and internment of the French warfleet, grounding of all planes, silencing

TRAIN WRECK CAR UPSET AT PROSPECT

Pulled Over While Clearing Away Coal Train Wreckage.

Trouble doubled up yesterday for workmen engaged in cleaning up the debris of the 24-car pileup near Prospect when a large wrecker overturned and rolled into the ditch. The wrecker, weighing 200 tons or more, was considerably damaged, but two workers who were operating it at the time, escaped uninjured. The wrecker was from Columbus.

The accident happened about 3:40 yesterday afternoon as the wrecker was tugging at one of the cars which had been wrecked several days ago. In some manner the wrecker was pulled off balance and upset.

Wreckers from the Erie railroad here and from the C. & O. yards at Walbridge were called and helped put the damaged wrecker back on the tracks. It will be sent to repair shops, officials said.

The debris of the first wreck is gradually being cleared away and is expected to be entirely cleaned up shortly, officials said.

Fleet Move Shields U. S. Intentions Toward Japan

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 26—Secrecy thrown about the sudden departure of the main United States fleet from Hawaii heightened uncertainty today over official intentions toward Japanese moves in the Far East.

Japan meanwhile was reported preparing a sweeping pronouncement that would be tantamount to an oriental Monroe doctrine.

Both White House and state department turned aside questions about the fleet with cryptic remarks that they had no news. Other sources were equally noncommittal.

Undetermined was whether the big battle force was steaming toward the United States mainland, for South American waters, or farther out toward the Orient.

No reports of preparations for the fleet have yet come from the Panama Canal Zone. War department officials here said they know of no unusual activity in the zone. The defense forces were engaged in normal operations, they said, and the existing fields of controlled mines were being maintained at the canal entrances, but no new mines have been laid.

The existing mine fields, it was said at the war department, are a part of the permanent defenses of the canal established years ago and their location and extent are not published. They are harmless to shipping except when detonated from shore by the coast artillery in time of war.

Dispatch of a third cruiser on a "friendly visit to South American ports" was announced today by the navy.

Acting Secretary Lewis Compton disclosed that the 10,000-ton light cruiser Phoenix, now in the Pacific, was proceeding to its first port of call, Valparaiso, Chile.

Two other cruisers—the Quincy and Wichita—are already in Atlantic coast South American ports whence have come repeated reports of "fifth column" activity resulting from German victories in the European war.

The open announcement about the Phoenix' trip contrasted with secrecy thrown about the sudden departure of the main fleet from Hawaii.

BRITISH BLOCK CHINA COLONY

Bridges Blasted at Hongkong as Japanese Move Toward French Territory.

By The Associated Press

HONGKONG, June 26—Bridges spanning the Shumchun river, forming a part of the Chinese frontier of this British crown colony, were dynamited today by the British military in an action described as "purely precautionary and defensive."

The British measures were taken shortly after the Japanese army in South China announced that Japanese forces had reached Lungchow, Kwangsi province town near the French Indo-China border.

An authorized British statement declared there was no cause for alarm and expressed the belief that the presence of Japanese troops across the border was for the avowed purpose of mopping up guerillas and closing the highway leading west from Mirs bay north of Hongkong.

While rumors spread that the Japanese might be planning to blockade Hongkong to compel Britain to shut the Burma route to China, the Japanese South China command issued a statement that on June 17 the Japanese started a "tactical operation in the direction of the (French) Indo-China border to intercept Chinese supply routes."

Japs Press French

As Britain showed concern for the defenses of her colony here it appeared that the Indo-China possession of her defeated ally, France, was being squeezed by the Japanese army and navy.

The British-owned newspaper China Mail said Japanese warships were off Haiphong, French Indo-China, where they "threw out a blockading screen, presumably with the intention of searching ships using that port."

Haiphong is more than 500 miles southwest of Hongkong.

Japanese troops approached French Indo-China from the northwest. The point they had reached, Lungchow, is some 500 miles west of this city, on the main road between Nanning, Kwangsi capital, and Hanoi, French Indo-China capital.

At the same time spirited fighting continued between the Japanese and Chinese in Hupeh province, some 600 miles north of Hongkong.

Rumors that the Japanese had invaded Indo-China were branded by Japanese here as untrue and as probably arising from the appearance of Japanese troops at Lungchow.

A large French naval force, including cruisers and submarines, is stationed in Indo-China waters.

The British-owned Hongkong telegraph said today a "private message" has been received in Hongkong this morning stating hostilities had begun in French Indo-China.

(In Tokyo it was announced cryptically that crack Japanese troops nine days ago acted "by force" to cut the supply route from Indo-China "to the central Chinese government at Chungking. It was not disclosed in Tokyo whether these troops actually had entered Indo-China territory.)

Japanese Await Time To Increase Power in Orient

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

And now Japan slips into the picture of the European war in a big way, taking advantage of the wide-open situation growing out of Hitler's attempt to dismember the British empire.

With France smashed and British influence in the orient tremendously weakened by the Nazi holocaust, Nippon is undertaking wide-spread operations which patently are calculated to give her domination of the Far East and the self-sufficiency she has been seeking.

This means a forceful reiteration of the "Monroe doctrine" which Japan guardedly gave to the world in 1934—eastern Asia for the Asiatics.

It involves control of great and rich territories belonging to Britain and the defeated nations of France and The Netherlands.

In other words, Japan is speeding up her efforts to oust the western powers from the Far East and take over complete control herself.

Events Worth Watching

We may be on the verge of witnessing a tremendous increase in the power and world prestige of the Japanese empire. It is a historic moment which should not be lost sight of because of the distractions of Europe.

In view of all this it is quite natural that there should be widespread speculation as to the destination of the Main United States fleet which slipped mysteriously after from Hawaii and is churning up the Pacific without any indication of whether it is sailing north, south, east or west. It may easily be proceeding to the Atlantic but anyway, the fact that there should be so much speculation as to whether it might possibly be heading for the Far East, is a fair mark of America's great interest in that part of the world.

The Japanese are proceeding boldly and with a strong hand, as is necessary if they are to take full advantage of their new-found freedom from interference by European powers.

Protectorates Foreseen

Informed sources in Tokyo say Nippon may attempt to declare protectorates over French Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies.

I do not profess to read the mind of the Japanese government. But if Tokyo is contemplating the establishment of "protectorates" over French and Dutch territory, and is using strong methods in regard to British territory, then to my mind it is being done with at least the acquiescence of Germany.

Apparently Herr Hitler is at the moment affable to the idea of the Japanese Monroe doctrine. It is hard to believe that Japan would be talking about taking over colonies of countries conquered by Germany, unless the fuehrer approved.

What is the quid pro quo involved? I don't know, but I feel very certain Hitler isn't giving rich colonies away to his friends as souvenirs.

DEFENSE FIRST, G.O.P. DEMANDS IN PLATFORM

Party Would Put U. S. Arms Ahead of Aid for "Oppressed Peoples."

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 26—A resolutions drafting committee, stalled briefly by a controversy over the wording of a declaration against military intervention abroad, today hammered the Republican party's 1940 platform into final shape.

The dispute was settled with rejection of a statement proposed by C. Wayland Brooks, platform committeeman from Illinois. His statement said:

"We insist that not one drop of the blood of American youth shall be spilled on foreign soil with the purpose of interfering with European or Asiatic conflicts."

The committee's refusal to accept the Brooks statement left in the platform the original pronouncement against any move for intervention in war abroad.

The chief task of the drafting committee was to perfect the language of the platform as previously worked out by the full committee, including a demand that national defense requirements be put ahead of aid to "oppressed peoples."

Approved by the resolutions committee last night, the statement of party policy was reported to specify that help extended to other nations "must be consistent with national defense." Private, as distinguished from government, aid would be encouraged.

Herbert K. Hyde of Oklahoma, resolutions committee chairman, said the platform would be given to the convention as soon as technical details of drafting could be completed, probably during the afternoon.

Floor Fight Seen

A possibility developed that the Massachusetts delegation might try to open the platform for revision from the floor. At a private caucus, it was learned, objections were raised to one undisclosed sentence of the defense plank.

It also was stated reliably that the caucus voted almost unanimously against a plank concerning government aid to, or regulation of, public utilities. Many of the state delegates felt, according to informed reports, that it might arouse criticism if Wendell Willkie, utilities executive, received the presidential nomination.

The full resolutions committee was said to have approved a statement defining a "base de-

PROSECUTOR FACES SUIT IN CEMETERY ACTION

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., June 26—James H. Cleveland, assistant U. S. attorney, faced a $50,000 damage suit today as an outgrowth of the Arlington Memorial Park mail fraud case recently terminated here with the acquittal of three prominent persons.

Filed by Stewart S. Cooper, former assistant county prosecutor, the suit charged that Cleveland "by acting in excess of his legal powers and in violation of his duties" prepared a list of 50 names and handed them to the foreman of a federal grand jury with the instructions that they should be indicted.

The grand jurors voted two indictments against him, Cooper said, charging Cleveland made "false statements."

Also acquitted were Dr. Stewart Hagen, Cincinnati Republican leader and Alfred Lefeber, an engineer. Eleven were convicted, others pleaded guilty.

HOOVER GIVEN CONVENTION OVATION

Former President Hoover raises his hand, above, in acknowledgement of the long ovation that greeted his introduction to speak at the second night session of the Republican national convention in Philadelphia. CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 26—Gov. Luren D. Dickinson of Michigan, 81-year-old critic of modern morals, took a quick look at the Republican convention and pronounced it:

"Safe, sinless and sexless."

But he's taking no chances. He's staying at a hotel in Camden, N. J., across the Delaware river, so he "won't have to hear any of these midnight goings-on during conventions."

The elephant finally came to Philadelphia in person and not just as a symbol of the Republican party.

A presidential candidate would have envied the applause which greeted the live pachyderm which waltzed in the lobby of one of the city's swankiest hotels to the blare of a brass band.

From the standpoint of comfort, Republicans are congratulating themselves on their decision to hold an early convention instead of outwalting the Democrats. The weather this week has been cloudy and cool.

Convention visitors were among a crowd, estimated variously by local officials at from 500,000 to 1,000,000 which jammed Broad street last night to see the city's famed Mummers' parade. The parade, organized by a group of local clubs is a traditional New Year's event and was repeated as part of the convention program.

FINAL HEARING SET ON NATURALIZATION

20 Applicants To Appear Before Examiner July 10.

Twenty Marion county residents who have been anxiously awaiting the day when they will become full-fledged citizens of the United States will be granted a final hearing on July 10, Clerk of Courts Carl F. Haberman announced today. The director of naturalization at Cincinnati informed Mr. Haberman that an examiner from the regional office will be in Marion to question the applicants.

The number of persons awaiting full citizenship now is the largest in the memory of Marion county officials. In addition to the 20 ready for their final hearing, there are a large number of others who are not so far along in the naturalization process. Applications for citizenship have tripled as a result of the European war. In the last 18 months 20 persons have applied.

The hearing on July 10 will start at 1 p. m. in the common pleas court room. Judge Hector S. Young is expected to preside.

WILLKIE STAYS CLEAR OF OHIO

New Yorker Not Now Seeking Votes of Delegates Pledged to Senator Taft.

By F. J. STARZEL
Columbus AP Bureau Chief

PHILADELPHIA, June 26—Wendell L. Willkie told Ohio delegates to the Republican national convention today that he was not now seeking Buckeye state delegates.

"If and when—and it will be when—the break comes, I would like to see Ohio with the majority, and it will be merely an addition to the majority," the New York utilities executive said at a breakfast meeting attended by 50 persons, half of them Ohioans.

Daniel Brower, Montgomery county chairman and delegate, breakfasted in the same room but did not join Willkie's party. Brower visited Willkie headquarters yesterday and stalked out when he was unable to see the New Yorker.

A "stick to the finish" drive in behalf of the Ohio "favorite son," Robert A. Taft, was shaping up among the Ohio delegation.

After Taft's name is placed in nomination by Grove Patterson, Toledo editor, it is expected to be seconded by Senator Warren Robinson Austin of Vermont, Herman Langworthy, Kansas City lawyer, Judge King Swope of Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. A. S. Natwick of Washougal, Wash.

From the candidate's managers came a prediction of a switch to Taft after the initial ballots.

"This (nomination) will be decided by logic, not emotion," the senator told a meeting of 400 Buckeye delegates, party officials and visitors last night. "Many delegates are still open to conviction."

Claims of an early "switch to Taft" gathered momentum as Sen. Arthur Capper of Kansas visited the rally.

Capper reported Kansans were impressed favorably by Taft's visit to that state, and Ohio delegates were quick to count on Kansans' support after giving their senator a complimentary vote.

George Bender, Cleveland congressman, urged the Buckeye clan to promote the idea: "We want statesmanship, not showmanship" on the convention floor and in hotel lobbies.

"Delegates themselves, and not any high pressure outfit, will pick the nominee," said Bender.

Informed by two New Yorkers that financial interests would refuse campaign contributions unless Wendell L. Willkie was nominated, Gov. John W. Bricker, chairman of the Ohio delegation, replied that Republicans "feeling that way should get out of the party and take their money with them."

Taft's headquarters has said delegate strength was unimportant, but admitted that Thomas E. Dewey of New York would receive a vote equaling or topping Taft's on the first ballot.

Californian Silent On Possibility As Nominations Near

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 26—Its pace slowed by a foreign policy row, a Republican national convention into which former President Herbert Hoover had been projected as a possible nominee assembled for a few minutes this afternoon, then recessed until 8:45 p. m.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin called the convention to order at 1:11 p. m. with many delegate seats still vacant. He then announced that "unfortunately the resolutions committee is not prepared to report at this time and therefore that business must go over until later."

He also announced that in accordance with convention rules, nominating speeches could not be made until after the platform is officially adopted. He asked all those contemplating such speeches to arrange them in proper order "so there will be no delay."

Hoover followed up his rallying call to the party last night to "save America for free men" with a press conference statement that he was not seeking public office. But he said there should be no interference with the selection of the nominee and did not say he would not take the nomination if it was offered by the convention.

The foreign policy dispute in the resolutions committee already had thrown the convention schedule out of joint. Members of that group argued much of the night over the form their declaration against intervention in foreign wars should take.

Delegates already were streaming into the big convention hall before the dispute was finally settled. Even then the resolutions committee had to put some hurried final touches upon the platform. Its general tenor was the slogan "preparedness and peace."

The Illinois delegation rejected a resolution which members interpreted as binding it to Thomas E. Dewey. Nebraska decided unanimously to vote for the New Yorker on the first ballot.

While Hoover talked to reporters, Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, the convention keynoter, told his state delegation that his vote would be cast for Wendell Willkie. The Minnesota group has 22 votes. It had been considered friendly to Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Simultaneously, an Alabama caucus voted to yield to the state's first position in the convention roll call to New York for the nomination of Thomas E. Dewey.

This procedure would put the name of the 38-year-old district attorney before the delegates prior to those of Willkie and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, two of his major rivals.

Hoover said that he was not seeking public office. But he said also there should be no "interference" with the selection of a nominee in a free and open manner.

Asked directly whether he would accept the nomination, Hoover declined to say. But the only living ex-president declared that he would support the 1940 nominee—whoever that might be.

A foreign policy dispute in the resolutions committee, not settled until late last night, threw the convention behind schedule. Hoover, and gave the sharply contesting candidates a chance to continue their "home work" with the 1,000 delegates.

Ovation for Hoover

For the moment, though, the delegates were intent upon Mr. Hoover when he took the platform last night. They shouted, blew whistles and marched up and down the aisles waving banners for eight and a half minutes after he had asked the question:

"Republicans, are you willing to go into this fight?"

He was referring to a fight to save America from the "suicide road" down which he said the New Deal was taking the nation—the same "suicide road," he declared, that had led to loss of liberty and disaster in Europe.

The former President, speaking more than an hour, analyzed his view of what was wrong with President Roosevelt's policies.

Upon those policies he poured sarcasm and ridicule and such epithets as "stabilizing depression," "the flabbiness of the New Deal," and "totalitarian liberals."

As he finished, he stood on the platform and waved to the delegates while they cheered. Some of them in the convention hall suggested that the tone of his voice and bone chief of a man willing to take on the Democratic machine next fall.

[illegible] Hoover Men There

Quickly, plenty of former Hoover lieutenants were thrown through the ropeliners. More than one of those who hauled state delegations out of their floor positions and were yelling up the aisles hailed back to the pre-convention days in Washington.

[illegible] the Administration died away. Chairman Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts spanked it back to order with his gavel. Mr. Hoover looked again at the crowd, waved his hand slowly, and turned away.

Talk of the speech filled the convention hall as the delegates recessed until 1 p. m. today to complete a platform and wade through the oratorical flourishes which will usher the contesting candidates into the arena.

From a group of old timers who date back to the days when the Republicans ruled the capital came the most lavish comment. Former Sen. George H. Moses of New Hampshire, who presided over the 1928 convention at Kansas City which first nominated Mr. Hoover, said "It is a brand new Hoover who spoke to us tonight." Former Sen. David Reed of Pennsylvania called it a "Great speech by a great man."

Speculate on Draft

Speculation arose that the former President might be drafted by the convention to run again, but party leaders argued that such a movement would have to find roots in a deadlock between all or some of these four candidates—Wendell L. Willkie of New York, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Even then, there might be room for a dark horse contender such as Frank Gannett of New York, Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, Governor James of Pennsylvania, or Hanford MacNider of Iowa, all of whom will get some first ballot votes.

Willkie managers figured he would get 100 votes on the first ballot. But the utilities executive was urging some of his supporters to come in his side quickly instead of waiting through several MONTS, France, June 25—(By Airplane Courier to Berlin)—Temporary offices of the American embassy in France have been set up here in the chateau of Charles E. Bedaux, where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were married.

The staff consists of three men—First Secretary Hugh S. Fullerton, Third Secretary Ernest Mayer and Trade Commissioner Leigh Hunt.

I arrived here after a long swing through the war sectors south and west of Paris.

Etampes, Orleans, Amboise and Blois—all scenes of recent fighting—were among the cities I visited.

First, they are pouring thousands of troops into the area between here and Bordeaux and, second, they are trying to bring back normal civilian life in the occupied area.

All along the highways from Paris to Tours, long lines of German army convoys moved rapidly in formation.

FORD BALKS ON AIRPLANE DEAL

Detroiter Refuses To Make War Motors for British Flying Force.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 26—Plans for faster expansion of the air force and simultaneously aid to Britain suffered a staggering blow today in the collapse of negotiations with Henry Ford for mass production of aircraft motors

Ford was said ready to turn out 1 000 complete fighting planes daily once tooling to manufacture any engines of Great Britain's choice was completed and the government had financed construction of the plants for a joint Anglo British order

William S Knudsen of the defense commission who disclosed the failure of the negotiations said however that important components will be supplied

It was revealed that Henry Ford made the proposal to produce planes a day provided Knudsen then head of General Motors suggested that General Motors could do likewise

Ford said at Detroit last night that he stood pat on his offer to produce motors and planes for defense purposes but only for the United States government

On the other hand Knudsen asserted that the Anglo-American contracts of the most order was made plain to Ford's son Edsel the president of Ford Motor company Edsel Ford confirmed the arrangements as satisfactory Knudsen declared

Announcement of the Ford breakdown came several hours after President Roosevelt had outlined a program for building up a reserve of officers to help man the enlarged defense under control

The Chief Executive declared at his press conference yesterday the navy's intensive plans for training 5000 flying officers annually for reserve commissions Enrollment of the embryo officers will start Friday he said and the actual training period would begin in mid July

Mr Roosevelt said that the course would be open to unmarried men between 19 and 26 who have had two years or more of college

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Everything Is in Readiness for the Dramatic Rendezvous with Jack Leslie

WE LOST no time in giving Harry Underwood the verdict on his work for which he had asked Led by my father himself has face expressing his approbation we all applauded heartily the job he had just finished that of making up the face of Watson already dressed in clothing of Mary's and preparing to impersonate her in the forthcoming ruse to outwit Jack Leslie

Of course if we scanned both faces closely we could have detected the differences If Jack Leslie should have an opportunity to look carefully at her Watson he would know it was not Mary's face upon which he was looking But for all casual scrutiny we knew that Watson could pass for Mary anywhere And the plan which my father had worked out with Leslie stipulated that he should not appear until some time after Noel and Mary—as he supposed them to be—were transferred to his men If he kept to the agreement Watson and Blake would be rescued by my father's guards once Queen Olga's emerald necklace was safely on its way back and would follow in its wake leaving Leslie to plan an invasion of the fastness by the secret staircase of which he believed we were all in ignorance

Okay Watson Harry said when our applause beckoned Now let's see you go through your paces

A Satisfactory Performance

With astonishing fidelity Watson walked across the room turned and gestured exactly as Mary had done

Most satisfactory ' my father said and we all added our plaudits Then Harry called Noel to the center of the room and had Blake watch his every movement as Watson had watched Mary's Following that, he finished making up Blake and then the two impersonators in Harry's phraseology strutted their stuff together while the rest of us wondered admired and enthusiastically approved the exhibition

'I think we are in readiness now my father said You will start in fifteen minutes I already have given instructions to the guards to have the cars ready Now Margaret and Lillian if you will make the rounds and see that all in the house keep strictly to their rooms until you give them the word the coast is clear we shall be able to get these impersonators out of here with no one the wiser "

' Shall we come back here when we have finished our round up?" Lillian asked and something indefinable in her manner made me look at her with sudden attention

My father's hesitation was hardly perceptible but I saw it and felt a little qualm of vague uneasiness

I'll dy think it will be necessary for you to do that he said at last Just go to your own rooms when you have finished

Father I ejaculated in sudden alarm You're not going out there You said you weren't but—"

The Chief Resource Madge

Nor am I Daughter he said and there was infinite sadness in his voice My place is there but unfortunately my physical condition is such that I would only hamper my men instead of helping them So I shall stay here I hate to hurry you but—I must remind you that time presses

Well go this second I said and hurried out with Lillian in my wake Outside in the hall we divided our prospective calls I taking Edith Fairfax and Katie while Lillian was to notify my mother-in law Katherine in the nursery and our royal refugees all on the second floor

Meet me in the library as soon as you've finished Lillian whispered as we parted and again I sensed something vaguely disturbing in her manner

I found Miss Whitlock sitting outside my door which I had given up to Edith temporarily

Asleep she said softly and I gave her my father's message that everyone was to keep inside the rooms

I'll go back immediately ' she said and then hesitated oddly

I know you're tremendously busy now ' she said but could you see me sometime later in the day? There's something concerning Miss Fairfax about which I wish to ask you '

In and Around Marion

Uneasy Seat

After sitting in the judge's chair in municipal court the other night we daily expect to hear of an incident involving the dignity of the court The casters apparently are the finest ball bearing and they rest or rather roll on smooth-sailing linoleum Every breath caused the chair to surge alarmingly to one side or the other As a safety measure for the judge we recommend substantial gates at the top of either side of the three steps leading up to the chair Our breathless stay the other evening was made a trifle less skittish by the knowledge that a good solid wall was at the back just in case the sliding gliding rolling chair should go off on a merry whirl in that direction

Greetings—Collect

It's lots of fun to be deluged with telegrams from friends when one has gone away from the village—that is sometimes it's fun

That's what Mrs Fanny Benson clerk in the safety service director's office found the other day when she checked out of the Indianapolis hotel where she had quarters during the national musician's convention

The hotel bill included an item of $1 17 for a telegram She received several from Marion friends and co-workers and now she's trying to track down the whodunnit mystery of which of the telegrams she received with such pleasure was sent collect by a jokester

Save Lives by Giving NOW

MARION county's humanitarian spirit has responded splendidly to the call for contributions to the Red Cross emergency war relief fund and the response is continuing. With the original quota of $4 000 subscribed we are now on the way to our second goal of the same amount with a feeling of assurance that it will soon be reached.

It is essential that the contributions be made without delay for the need is urgent among the millions left stricken and destitute by ravages of war. It is hardly necessary to employ additional words to tell about the devastation overseas and the tragic plight of the countless men women and children who are innocent victims of the holocaust. News accounts for weeks past have spread the terrifying story before our eyes day after day.

Neither should it be necessary to remind us that this country and the few other countries which have escaped the blight provide virtually the only source of help for the sufferers. This help is coming but it must be on its way with increasing speed and in greater volume. Dollars sent immediately will be the means of saving lives which may be lost if there is delay.

That is why the American Red Cross spurred on by appeals from workers among the multitude of sufferers urges prompt and generous gifts. That is why people of Marion county are asked to lose no time in joining the rest of the country in making up the second quota of contributions. The plea is to give now while the need is greatest and most urgent.

In this community the giving has been placed on a voluntary basis in the belief that no campaign or solicitation should be required. A contribution blank is appearing daily in The Star with instructions as to where the gifts may be sent or delivered. It is hoped that every person able to help with any amount large or small, will use the blank for this purpose and will do so immediately.

The Political Bottleneck

THE Republican party's task, which explains the importance of developments in the Philadelphia convention, is to make itself an effectual instrument of national welfare. The same task will challenge the Democratic party when its convention is held.

The breakdown of politics in France and Great Britain has been at the bottom of their troubles. Because politicians failed to do what public welfare demanded one proud nation has disintegrated and another is in a grim battle for its life.

The United States has had the benefit of watching what happened to the two great European democracies. It has seen their politicians chasing each other around in short circles while doom impended. It has heard them argue about which end an egg should be cracked on while Germany methodically prepared to crack it on both ends and in the middle. The tragedy has been too ghastly to permit any notion of repeating it here.

Americans have faith in the intelligence, the discipline and the courage of their military and naval establishments. They have faith in the resources of their manpower. They have faith in the efficiency and resources of their industrial and business organizations. They have faith in their financial stability. They have faith in their ability to feed themselves to clothe themselves—to do everything that is necessary to their existence.

They lack faith only in the capacity of their political leaders to furnish direction and purpose to national energy. They are apprehensive of half-pint brains and underdone ideas in high places. They are afraid of pleasyunish methods and half-hearted approaches. They are mistrustful of guile and narrowness and frenzied fumbling. They are weary of representative government which betrays its trust and whiles away the time in follow-the-leader. They have seen what happened when political bottlenecks stifled national energies elsewhere and they pray that the disaster may be averted in America.

Everything that needs to be done can be done if one thing is provided—sound political leadership.

News Behind the News

Smear Campaign Against Willkie Reported Having Little Effect.

By PAUL MALLON

PHILADELPHIA, June 26—It is a singular but probable fact that the hi-finance labels (DuPont Morgan banks, utilities) which have been plastered surreptitiously upon the expansive back of Wendell Willkie by his opposition here are curling and falling off like one of Farley's postage stamps without enough glue. At least that is the way a number of perceptive delegates see it. Their reaction may presage what would happen if the Democrats have the opportunity of exploiting such a smear poster campaign with their own hitherto sure fire glue in the coming campaign.

Paul Mallon

Somehow it is just impossible to make a Wall Street sticker cling to a fellow who dines in homespun style in a cut rate drug store. Willkie's dust mary meal here has been a beese sandwich on white bread and a glass of water. The cut rate delegates smile and like it immensely.

Nor do the hi finance labels gain adhesive quality upon more substantial analysis. They are founded on his directorship in the Chase Bank and his Commonwealth and Southern utility chairmanship. Willkie is undeniably from and of the top of the financial business world. But he is also from so many other places including his Indiana hog farm and of so many other common log cabin interests that he phenomenally fails to fit the public picture or what a successful utility executive should be.

His sharpest test came when he was confronted with the war question at the outset here. He bespoke himself against involvement more emphatically than has Mr Roosevelt although involvement is a position historically associated with international bankers.

New Deal Attitude

The New Dealers have not been able to drop the come-on bait to the Republicans in the past but their regard for Willkie has been sufficiently genuine to convince me of their sincerity. As one of Mr Roosevelt's leading leftists has put it off the record:

We like Willkie because we believe no man can be intelligent without being a liberal and Willkie is intelligent.

They may also like him because their securities exchange commission agents and sleuths from other government departments spent 18 fruitless months off and on trying to find some connection between Willkie the Georgia Power Co and Walter George the unpurged Georgia senator.

The argument that one Willkie worker here was overheard using on a doubtful delegate was:

Big corporations always hire the best men to do their work. Why can't the people hire that kind to do theirs?

Convention Sidelight

The Republican pros have been put so far in the background by the amateurs who are running this show the jobholders staged a mild uprising. Massachusetts Senator Lodge complained because only four senators were on the platform committee and none on the sub-committee doing the actual drafting. Alf Landon thereupon appointed two senators to sit among the drafters but by that time the platform was nearly finished.

The mimeographed statement against Willkie handed out by the mid-western congressional bloc (on reciprocal trade agreements) came from the mimeo in Dewey headquarters. Organizer of the bloc was a Dewey delegate.

Never again will platform committees sit up all night at a convention to turn out hurriedly a statement of party policy. The Landon plan of assembling ahead of the convention to conduct hearings worked out well although some witnesses like Ed O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation complained about having to appear before a sub committee instead of the full committee.

Ham Fish the New York representative was cornered for a press conference while holding two large dark satchels in his hands. He refused to tell what was in them. But from the private room he later entered a well printed pamphlet was handed out by someone else entitled. If there is a deadlock nominate Hamilton Fish of New York.

Of all anti war politicos Senator Frazier of North Dakota is antiest. When asked what he would do if this hemisphere were invaded he replied. I would just refuse to recognize it.

Convention sight of the week. Former Governor Nice of Maryland receiving delegates in his bedroom in an old fashioned flannel nightshirt.

Best repartee of the candidates was contributed by Senator Vandenberg. I am just here watching the parade go by. On these rumored political deals I am an isolationist. The only smoke filled room will be at the Chicago Democratic convention and the only smoke will come from a cigaret held in a long tilted holder.

One of the many presidential candidates in a press conference let slip the observation that. Good heavens these are exceptionally troublesome times and he certainly would not want to be president in THEM. Newsmen decided not to use it on him as apparently he did not intend it to sound just exactly that way.

Real Issue at G O P Convention Regarded as Question of Leadership

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE struggle at Philadelphia is not over policies and programs. For the Republican party is at present much too divided and confused to take a clear position on any great question on the whole ingenuity of the professional operators and platform makers and the political managers is dedicated to inventing combinations of words which can seem to mean all things to all men. This preoccupation with verbal formulae is inevitable in any assemblage of men who have as yet no leaders to follow them.

The party has no leaders now. Every one agrees that this convention is unbossed. It is no less true that this convention is unled. And since it is both unbossed and unled the preliminary verbal maneuvers serve the same purpose as the brass bands and the songs and the entertainers who keep a crowd in order until the real show can begin.

The underlying struggle at Philadelphia is over whether the Republican party shall or shall not choose a man to lead it. The struggle is therefore over Wendell Willkie. For the essential difference between the Willkie candidacy and that of Taft and Dewey is not in their respective views about foreign and domestic policy but in their conception of the function and duty of public men. Mr Willkie stands for the view that a public man must express his convictions and then try to persuade the people to follow him. Messrs Taft and Dewey stand for the view that a public man must try to find out what a majority of voters are thinking and must conform to the majority and follow it. Under the one conception a party is capable of choosing nation policies. Under the other conception it can only make popular promises.

Question at Philadelphia

The question at Philadelphia is whether the party is to offer the nation a leader in this time of crisis. Nothing else that is being debated in Philadelphia matters in the least. Neither the foreign relations of the United States nor its internal condition are going to be affected in the slightest by the elaborate ambiguities of the word manipulators. The tide of events is so strong and so swift that in less than ten days there will no be five hundred persons in the world who will still be able to remember the formulae that are being painfully contrived in the hotel rooms of Philadelphia.

What will matter is whether the convention has chosen a man who will try to get himself elected by emitting ambiguous rhetoric, appealing to petty interests and unmanly fears and avoiding or ignoring every real issue which might threaten to disrupt his unstable and divided following. What will matter is whether, on the contrary the convention has chosen a man who is concerned with the destiny of the country and has convictions which he will express appealing to the sense of the people that they must be great not petty strong not weak resolute and not soft lucid and not confused. The issue to put it bluntly but accurately is whether the Republican party is to choose a leader who can be a state man or a politician who will play the demagogue.

If this were not the real issue in this convention Mr Willkie would not be a formidable con-

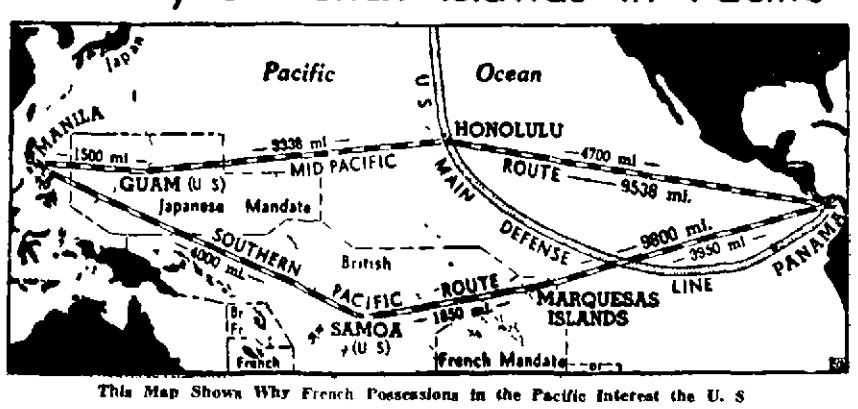
U.S. Eyes French Islands in Pacific



This Map Shows Why French Possessions in the Pacific Interest the U. S

By MORGAN M BEATTY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON June 26—While most military eyes are focused on Europe many naval strategists are turning toward several tiny specks in the Pacific—potential lifelines of American commerce.

Up to now these specks have been in France's hands.

They are the Marquesas the Tubuai Tuamotu and the Society Islands in the South Seas. That South Sea paradise Tahiti is among them.

Of course there are French possessions of service to our shores than these Pacific Islands. But naval and congressional students have indicated they do not feel the European possessions in the Guianas and the Caribbean area should tempt Herr Hitler to open occupation immediately. They are too close to the American mainland.

But what about the French possessions in the South Seas?

Naval Supply Line

Save for Hawaii these islands are the most strategic of all stepping stones in the Pacific either for a navy hostile to our own or our own navy counting on hostile forces lying athwart our path to rubber and tin and to the Philippines in the Far East.

These islands provide a southern supply line for our fleet guarding commerce or fighting to keep commercial routes open and a line whose first supply depots would be far out of range of the Japanese navy. Our present direct lines from Hawaii to the Far East lie in the path of great Japanese mandated territory of the western Pacific the Marshall and Caroline islands.

The French islands also provide a new strategic leg to our main defense line from the Aleutians to Hawaii and Panama.

It must be remembered that in case of trouble our navy would be supplied with strategic material from the great industrial triangle of the eastern United States via the Panama Canal. With the canal as a supply base the navy is confronted with almost impossible distances to supply its fleet operating in the Pacific regardless of what stepping stones are used.

Comparative Distances

Hawaii now is the first stepping stone and the direct line to the Far East begins there. For example from Panama the route to Manila via Honolulu stretches 9 538 miles. With the Marquesas first link in the supply chain instead of Hawaii the southern route to the Far East is 9 800 miles long a difference of only 300 odd miles.

Naval eyes have been on the French islands for years. In 1921 Capt Dudley W Knox of the United States Navy proposed that we buy the islands or let them be done a part payment on the war debt.

Now congressional committees are thinking about these islands even though the are not saying so out loud.

A resolution that went zooming through congress the other day says the United States will not recognize European acquisitions in the western hemisphere and provides for a conference of American republics. Anything west of Spain and east of Tokio may be "western hemisphere"—not that any such vast area is in ans Navy mind. What is in the minds of the framers of the defense resolution is a new definition of the western hemisphere written by American republics and definitely including within its boundaries the French Islands in the Southern Pacific.

M B Morrissey secretary of the Bucyrus Chamber of Commerce was heading a movement to change the city's half-holiday of that week from Wednesday to Thursday. He said Bucyrus expected to have a band and a large delegation of citizens present. All rooms available for rental were being listed in Bucyrus in the same way that Marion was doing. This step was taken to take care of any visitors to Marion on the busiest days of the campaign who would be unable to find lodging accommodations here. Men started work painting white lines on streets to indicate parking space and also as a guide to safe crossings. Engineers started on the Union station preparing for a $25 000 program of alterations and enlargements decided upon by officials of the several railroads to take care of the increased business resulting from the Harding campaign.

Hollywood Observations from Ethel's Friend, Beau Hulda Barnhouser.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn:

DEAR SIR Last night I ses to my wife by the way Ethel do you ever hear that good looking friend of yours who went to Hollywood to get in the movies? Ethel you mean Hulda Barnhouser? O yes a letter from her a couple of days ago she got in? Ethel ses not yet Joe.

I ses why not Ethel? I ses I should think would be glad to get a good looking girl like Ethel ses well it is on account of I ses what conditions? Ethel ses Hulda say She just ses she has not been able to the movies yet on account of conditions.

I ses well I am sorry to hear that Ethel ses yes Hulda is working in a cafe on account of conditions Joe. She started out waitress and got promoted right away because because the boss liked her personality he would like to pay her twice as much as he does but can't do it on account of conditions Joe from what Hulda ses everything Hollywood is on account of conditions.

I SES well anyway she is eating regular that is something these days Ethel a lot of people are not eating in Brooklyn I ses yes but she did not take the restaurant just to eat regular Joe.

She thought some of those movie actors could see her and notice how beautiful she is and put her in the movies right away I ses if Gregory Lacava the director should see her he would go crazy about her and make a star of her at once because she is just the type he likes.

I ses well Ethel maybe he will see her and Ethel ses no Joe Hulda ses that the fellows are no eating in restaurants nowadays on account of conditions I ses that's too bad Ethel I ses didn't Hulda come close to getting in anywhere? Ethel ses only once Joe She met a fellow who was for Universal and he was really greased to her He told her he would do anything could do anything for her though he said he could on account of conditions.

I SES well anyway she was truthful when she ses I hear most of those guys out there are playing the con for dames and when they are going to get them in the end Ethel ses no yes Hulda ses he is a gentlemen. That is as when she was sitting on table and he really might have done something for her but he had to go and order eggs for his breakfast.

I ses what did that have to do with it? She ses well Joe you see Hulda had a boy friend who was from Sweden and she was trying to learn little dialect in the Swede language and he told her he would see if he could do something she got so excited she could hardly talk. Then when he ordered boiled eggs for breakfast she ses how do you want them Ethel ses well so what Ethel? I ses how did you want them berled?

Ethel ses you are just like Hulda you get excited you say berled instead of boiled. I ses I am not excited Ethel and I hear you say berled yourself Ethel ses well I was excited too when I did but I am over it that way if I have time to think people suppose everybody in Brooklyn is dumb and it makes them laugh Hulda never found out how he wanted his eggs Joe because he went away he saw she was not from Sweden but from Brooklyn.

I SES well with her looks I don't think it makes any difference it makes where she is from Ethel ses yes but the worst part of it is the fellow was once married to a lady from Brooklyn who always ses berled and he has been reminded of her Joe wasn't that the worst kind of luck for Hilda after the way she put it to keep from saying berled? I ses no Ethel probably a good break for her I see she is probably no good or he wouldn't particularly.

I ses well it is a good thing her new boy friend Ethel because that makes her sure of a job in the restaurant and Ethel ses well she is thinking a little of marrying him is always asking her I ses does she want to Ethel? She ses no Joe and I ses I wonder why is she thinking of marrying him Ethel ses well Hulda ses that is on account of conditions too Joe.

Yours truly
JOE

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT F DODDS

News of the American Revolution reached Indians in the wilderness of the Ohio Country. Capitalizing upon the tribesmen's understanding the British enlisted the sympathy of all Indians they could not enroll in the royal army.

Colonists countered this move by holding a mass meeting of the Indians at Fort Pitt in September 1775—the largest Indian delegation ever convened. Here the Indians favor was won successfully by the Americans.

One small tribe of Ohio Indians under Chief Pluggy's band refused to go along with their tribal brothers. Their village on the present site of Delaware was one of renegades plundered and razed by frontier American homes during the year of 1776.

Congress considered warming the Miamis but abandoned the idea for fear of inciting a general frontier war with the Indians. The band's attack was repulsed at McClellanson Dec 29 1776 and their leader Pluggy was killed.

So Wilson Midgley London Star reporter got an invitation to a grass luncheon. The newspaperman found it difficult to chew the crisp grass at first is how things proceeded from there.

"With a little crushed beetroot added grass became delicious. I added lettuce strips. Mr Branson apologized for no rose leaves, which he said make an ideal garnish for grass.

When I was ready for another course added toasted crumbs to our grass and sugar. This was solid eating but there more to come.

"The next delicacy was tomato stuffed grass. These were excelled only by course. These were like little meat balls you ate with your fingers. Cooked grass and a mixture of vegetables are bound with eggs and fried. they were most deliciously flavored sausage schoolboy has ever tasted."

The central body last night elected Cliff S. Welker secretary as delegate to the state convention at Cedar Point the week of Aug. 19.

This latter was a proposal that farmers be given a profits price analogous to the current "parity" price for their crops. Soil conservation payments would be continued.

... put down his spoon and ... a little more salt. ... about a dash of vinegar ...

... ou ought to try it this way ... for that figure What ... I saying?"

... about the brief case" ... was on the shelf behind the driver's seat. When the hitch-hiker poked the gun in his ribs and ordered him to get out, there on that dark side road, the chaplain thought of his papers—his commission, his orders—and, with considerable courage for such a little rabbit of a man, he grabbed the brief case and pitched it through the open window of the car, sending it as far off the road as he could. He says the man with the gun used deplorable language, but must have been afraid to take the time to hunt for it."

"So he made the chaplain undress and left him there without a stitch in the middle of the road?"

"Correct. Nothing like lack of clothes to keep a man from raising an outcry and calling attention to himself. Not that there was any passing traffic. It's an unfrequented road back of the reservation. The chaplain figured out where he was while he was scrambling around in the dark looking for his brief case. It had gone over the fence. High fence, close mesh barbed wire on top. He straddled it with care, deduced that it bordered the reservation. So as Adam into Eden, came Chaplain Henry to Fort Michigan.

Did he find his brief case?"

"Yes, fortunately. It contained all his spare cash and his identifying papers. So all night long, clutching the brief case, he walked circles out in the bosque beyond the large range. This is a big reservation, you know—several hundred acres. At last he got onto the Russian ride which was easier underfoot, but he says he kept stumbling against the jumps and falling into the ditches. Some time before dawn he sat down to rest and dozed off. And you and I nearly caught him without—without even the poison oak leaf—"

I watched him heap a double ration of sugar on his oatmeal and let the inconsistency go unremarked. I was remembering the smoothness with which the big black automatic had appeared in Adam's hand. I was remembering, too, that he had refused to let me ride home alone that he had insisted on seeing me to the very door of the club before he went off to send aid to the poor shivering chaplain back there behind his bush.

"You don't usually go around armed," I said, wondering why I had not thought of it at the time. "How did you know—"

Incident Number Two

"It happened once before. One night about two weeks ago a taxi driver picked up a man in the Loop—wanted to be driven to Fort Michigan. The driver was thoughtful enough to collect part of the fare in advance but when he turned in the gate of the post he felt a gun at the back of his neck. Following instructions, he drove through the post and out past the target range—not far from where we were riding this morning. There he stopped his taxi, got out and stripped also according to instruction and stood there in a state of nature watching his clothes money and cab disappear into the night.

The soldier waiter brought in a platter and set it down in front of Adam. The ham was nearly an inch thick and the color of a nice ripe peach. The eggs were curled up and brown around the edges. There was even a sprig of parsley.

So the cook is under your spell too, I said bitterly. You'll never be able to eat all that, Immerman bring me a plate.

Adam raised his white brows. "An ah! Remember the figure! Figure yourself. You'll be an old tubby before you're fifty.

Not if you're around. I won't. He helped himself liberally from the platter, looked regretfully at the remainder. Why don't you be a good girl and quit interrupting me?

Did they find the villain?" I asked dutifully.

Not yet. The taxi was discovered abandoned about a mile from the post. Nothing missing but cash and there was a regimental insignia on the floor of the cab. That's how we know it was someone from the post.

The waiter managed to miss the table completely with my plate. I wouldn't have believed you could break one of those durable articles but it scattered in several directions.

Adam continued to eat, but he glanced down once at the fumbling fingers that were gathering up the pieces and paused long enough to say thoughtfully: "Well, catch him now. The first episode was kept rather quiet. This one will be all over the post by noon.

"A Cautious Man"

That mild remark proved to be no overstatement. There may have been other topics of conversation that morning at Fort Michigan but history finds them unworthy of mention. Sentries walked their posts with shaking shoulders; cooks giggled into the soup; brides hung shrieking on the telephone or over the railing of their back verandas. Mules brayed horses laughed.

And it is told that a Miss Atkins from just outside the post calling on the commanding officer about a matter concerning one of his command, was grossly insulted.

And when I asks could I see the chaplain (to put the matter in her own words) me that's been waitin months for the fella to show up he busts right out laughin in my face."

Whatever the truth of Miss Atkins narrative (as reported by Adam's orderly the following day) Colonel Pennant was obviously in high spirits when he came unannounced, into the mess hall at noon.

The men sprang to their feet and Mrs. Bridewell, the club hostess, really fluttered—not the professional fuss I had seen her put on for visiting firemen and their battle axes (as she had somewhat incautiously dubbed two traveling generals and the wives to me behind their backs)—but the involuntary response of any conscious woman in the presence of an attractive male.

He must have been between forty-five and fifty—it takes years in the service before a man wears silver eagles on his shoulders—but he was lean and erect and handsome, and the wrinkles around his alert blue eyes were merely the heritage of laughter. He looked too young to have a grown daughter.

I gave the cook the day off, he explained when they had him seated at our table. The girls have gone to the city to meet the bride. Too bad they didn't go yesterday; they could have delivered the chaplain too. And in better shape I hope than he arrived in.

Whereupon, as Miss Atkins would have phrased it, he busts out laughing and the rest of us joined, not so much because the colonel's jokes are always laughed at, as because we had reached that stage where the mere mention of the chaplain was enough to set us rocking.

"Ah, but do you know the care with which he planned his arrival?" asked Felicia Bridewell brightly. Did you see the letter he wrote Colonel Pennant? The adjutant turned it over to me. I'll try to find it for you later. Or perhaps he would like it back. It would make the text for a sermon on best-laid plans. You see, he's not a man to go into anything blind—he takes proper precautions. He was troubled about his quarters. Being a bachelor he knew there was small chance of getting a married officer's set, but he did hope his rooms would be as far removed as possible from the more boisterous element in bachelor quarters—I'm going to put him in the guest wing near you and me, Kay. He ought to feel right at home among us girls. Finally he announced the time of his arrival in Chicago and his intention of buying a new Ford sedan there to drive to Fort Michigan. He had calculated the number of miles and the rate of speed at which he could travel and had come to the conclusion that he would not be here in time for the evening meal. Was there a respectable place along the way where he could stop to dine? Now there, I submit, is a cautious man. And look what happened to him!"

Colonel Pennant mopped his eyes, drew down the corners of his mouth and tried to look solicitous as his gaze fell on Captain Jones, the junior medical officer who was seated across the table from him.

"How is he, by the way?" he asked.

Captain Jones, in a trance of inattention, continued to punch holes with his finger in a piece of commissary bread. A repetition of the question failing of any result and the heap of crumbs continuing to grow, Adam, who was sitting next to him, prodded him with a long finger.

"The chaplain," he said loudly. "Colonel Pennant want to know how the chaplain is."

War in Europe Revives Plans for Electrical Cannon

By The Associated Press

MONAHANS, Tex., June 26—The World war armistice shelved, O. A. Bruton's plans for an electrical device he says can throw a 1,000-pound shell 750 miles.

But war in Europe brought them out again, and after more than a year's work, he has presented the specifications to the war department as a gift.

Bruton, 47-year-old jeweler, says there is no comparison between his device and any other.

"There never has been a machine of that type that does not use some kind of explosive," he explained.

"The only explosive in my equipment is a shell. The gun itself is strictly electrical and when fired does not have any vibration and will make no more noise than would come from starting a 500 horsepower motor."

He estimates the device will cost about the same as an ordinary gun of its caliber—it can be made any size from 18 inches bore up—and that the shell would cost from $2,500 to $3,000.

He described it this way:

"The machine resembles an ordinary eight or ten inch cannon. The barrel is 32 feet long.

A series of electro magnets pulls the shell to the end of the barrel, gaining velocity as it goes. Then a switch on the shell is opened and the motor which draws the propeller carrying the projectile is closed and the shell starts on its way.

The explosive bomb is a torpedo looking affair with a conventional 16 inch propeller operated by a normal electric motor which gains its impetus from batteries. Fins which guide the path of the bullet and stabilize its flight are folded until the shell is released from the barrel.

Vertigo

Is there any diet for vertigo?

A great many middle aged people who have progressive deafness are bothered more with the vertigo than they are with the deafness. The vertigo is due to changes in the organ of equilibrium, the semi circular canals, which are connected with the middle ear.

A diet known as the Kunsenberg Diet is based on the theory that the retention of sodium ions in the tissues of the inner ear is the cause of attacks of vertigo or Meniere's disease. The diet eliminates foods high in sodium.

The diet is as follows:

Group A—The following foods may be taken daily. Eggs, meat, fish and fowls as described, bread as desired, cereal, one of the following — farina, oatmeal, rice, puffed rice or puffed wheat, potato and one or more servings of any of the following—(a) macaroni, (b) spaghetti, (c) rice, (d) corn, (e) cranberries, (f) prunes, (g) plums, milk as desired, vegetables and fruit daily or any fruit and of any vegetable not included in groups B and C as desired.

Group B—Foods to be avoided. All salt meats and fish, or bread, crackers and butter prepared with salt, carrots, clams, condensed milk, raisins, caviar, rowpens, olives, spinach, cheese, endive, oysters.

Group C—Foods to be taken no more than twice weekly: Lima beans, beets, buttermilk, cantaloupe, cauliflower, celery, chard, dried coconut, dried currants, dates, figs, horseradish, kohlrabi, limes, muskmelons, peanuts, peaches, mustard, pumpkin, radishes, rutabagas, strawberries, turnips, turnip tops, watercress.

Note: All foods to be prepared and served without salt.

tender He is a formidable contender because he possesses the gift of leadership he has the insight the character and the magnetism of which leadership is composed The proof that he is a genuine leader lies in the fact that he has such an enormous following throughout the nation and in all walks of life That following was not drummed up by propaganda It is as nearly spontaneous as anything we have ever seen That following is not the product of organization and promises and pledges it is a popular uprising of men and women who have responded as free peoples ought to respond to good leadership when good leadership is available

The Republican party ought to be thankful that this has happened They ought to be thankful as patriots that in a time when leadership is indispensable a leader has appeared They ought to be thankful as partisans because only a leader of Willkie's quality can hope to contend on equal terms with a leader like Roosevelt And they ought to realize that if they do not seize this opportunity if they reject it if they frustrate the men and women who are behind Willkie they will be faced in one form or another with the certain disintegration of the Republican following and of the moral spirit of the Republican party There may be no open schism But as surely as the sun rises in the morning the great mass of the ardent and influential people who are behind Willkie will lose interest or they will drift away looking elsewhere for leadership

POLITICAL BATTLE REPORTED IN BRITAIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON June 26—Along with military phases of the war today Britain was said by informed parliamentary sources to be experiencing a hidden political battle of prime importance

There is a clamor these sources said for the ousting of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain from the cabinet His opponents say they fear appeasement again

In brief they point out that Prime Minister Churchill maintains his power only through Chamberlain's conservative votes—counted at 200 sure in the house of commons The Chamberlain foes are said to believe that if Germany should invade England and score early successes Chamberlain now lord president of the council could overthrow the fighting Churchill government and form a peace cabinet which would not hesitate to deal with Germany

These charge that the interests of Chamberlain the key figure at Munich are similar to those of the French leaders who have dictated the capitulation of France

QUICK RAIDS

of wireless, disarmament of fighting forces, cessation of all aid to Britain termination of all resistance to Germany and Italy in France of hostile territories surrender of all war stores and equipment

In addition Germany is occupying more than half of France including the entire Atlantic coast to Spain

Italy occupies the one to five mile fringe of south eastern France her troops took in two weeks of skirmishing She also takes all rights to Jibuti the sea outlet for the only rail line to Addis Ababa in Ethiopia is guaranteed disarmament of French naval bases and demilitarization of zones 30 to 150 miles wide between France and Italy and between French and Italian holdings in Africa

Spanish sources understood that Premier Petain would take his French government from Bordeaux to Clermont Ferrand nearly 200 miles south of Paris and 55 miles from the nearest German-occupied territory

Under the armistice the government could if it desired return to Paris to which the civilian population is plodding back

War Echoes in Asia

The war had significant echoes in Asia The Tokyo newspaper Asahi reported Japan soon would issue a sweeping pronouncement warning all powers against interference in East Asia

The newspaper said Japan planned to establish an 'Asiatic Monroe doctrine' to prevent Germany or Italy from seizing Far East possessions of European nations as spoils of war

Rumbles of a new conflict impending in French Indo China found support in a statement by the British owned Hongkong telegraph that hostilities already have begun in Frances Far East possession

Japanese in Hongkong however said reports that Japan had invaded Indo China were untrue and probable arose from the appearance of Japanese troops at Lungchow near the Indo-China border ballots to let his vote snowball

"If you are for me I want you to come to me quickly," he told delegates.

Kenneth F Simpson, retiring New York national committeeman and a Dewey foe, indicated that he would support Willkie if Gannett dropped out

Dewey and Taft were fighting to keep their lines clear and fishing for more delegates Both claimed to have held their own

Vandenberg aids said the senator was receiving overtures from the Taft, Dewey and Willkie camps for the vice presidential nomination This they declared, he would refuse

Nominations Tonight

A wave of oratory will mark the nominating speeches tonight

The platform approved last night by the resolutions committee includes a foreign policy plank criticizing the Roosevelt administrations defense record pledging an anti war stand and calling for aid to oppressed peoples

Several planks followed the lines of Mr Hoover's speech

In it he declared that the breakdown of various European democracies into totalitarian states was started along the way by totalitarian liberals who he said were the spiritual fathers of the New Deal

These so-called liberals shifted the relation of government to free enterprise from that of impartial controller he said

We have had eight years of experience with our own totalitarian liberals Battling against all the natural forces of recovery they have succeeded in starting depression

Certainly the New Deal has not been able to go to power And now fed fat on power they demand a third term for Mr Roosevelt That is not a mere violation of tradition It is a violation of a fundamental restraint on power in this republic

But we Republicans would welcome Mr Roosevelt as our candidate For this battle must be fought out under the guns of debate

Sets Seven Stern Tasks

Mr Hoover called upon his party to lead America in seven stern tasks of preparation for a future in which much of the world outside the United States will long continue to be dominated by dictatorships totalitarian economics and militarism

Among these tasks he recommended that the nation prepare to defend its western hemisphere and devastated foreign policies that keep us out of war unless we are attacked

We should facilitate all nations fighting for their freedom in procuring materials and munitions he declared but subject to definite limitations which keep us out of war

What Hoover said about foreign affairs follows in part

The first line of our national defense is clear realistic and sober foreign policies directed to secure respect good will and peace

To realize that ideal during the whole 12 years of Republican administration after the last armistice we strove to keep the free of civilization turned toward good will

Biggest Task Now

The immense task now is to shape our foreign policies to protect us from the conflagration in Europe and Asia

There is no such thing as our isolation from wars which engulf two-thirds of all the people in the world The Monroe Doctrine alone is the negation of that There is no such thing as economic isolation Those shocks jam through the doors of our farmers and our workers every hour

Today a thousand tragedies to mankind crash one after another Our emotions are inflamed We are hostile to totalitarian ideas We resent aggression We are indignant at brutality Our natural sympathies are with democracies fighting for their freedom

But here and now America must summon reason to control emotion The greatest quality of men in danger second only to courage is a cool deliberate action That is equally the necessity in a nation An idealism as never before must keep its feet on the ground of realism

"Those who feel we should intervene in this war should take note of other realistic reasons why we should keep out If we join we shall in our own unpreparedness require two or three years to make ourselves effective That will be too late In the meantime we should require the whole energies of America mobilized to ourselves For us to declare war would do the Allies more harm than good

"The final realism is that if we are to keep cool and not stimulate war there must be an end to provocative speech by our officials Expressions of indignation or regret do not require insults The first responsibility of the president of the United States is to abate war not to stimulate it It is not the province of the president of the United States to create hate

And there is an infinite service that America can bring to the world After this struggle we shall see hate strung at the peace table We might without our moral force and counsel abate its dread consequences I know the famine disease and suffering that is yet to come with this war With our economic strength and our compassion we can save millions of lives give aid to reconstruction and inspire to courage and hope again to the world

Hoover said that Nazism and our New Deal both rose to power in 1933 and since then Republicans in congress supported repeated increases in defense appropriations until they reach $1,400,000,000 a year

Cites 6 Year Expenditure

In those six years he contended the New Deal has spent 12 billions without after all that expenditure we are told we are wholly unprepared to defend ourselves

The drive for preparedness he declares is a fuller battle we have to have preparedness we must have a change in our national administration

Of defeats debts deficits and the specter of unemployment Hoover said that they have been the curse of the party ever since the last war and they are ended on the trail of one of every fallen democracy

The seven stern tasks which he said must be undertaken if we are to be prepared were these

FIRST—We must restore and protect liberty in America

SECOND We must restore and rebuild morale in government

THIRD We must restore the confidence and hope of our farmers and they have been chronically submerged by the New Deal

FOURTH We must restore competence to government

FIFTH—We must put this nation to defend the western hemisphere

SIXTH—We must develop and maintain foreign bases that keep us out of these wars unless we are attacked We must furnish to all nations fighting for freedom in procuring materials and munitions but subject to definite limitations which keep us out of war

SEVENTH We must recall our people from the fields of the New Deal We must establish stamina character and ideals We must regenerate hope and confidence in America

Dodgers Daffy Again, Lose Out to Cubs, 8-3

Brooklyn Hands Game to Chicago; Indians Increase Lead.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is no time like midnight to unmask a miracle

The Chicago Cubs did it last night, revealing that the Brooklyn Dodgers are no wonder-workers and that it will take a long and bitter battle to bring the National league pennant to Ebbets Field

Of their last nine decisions the Dodgers have dropped seven The fact that it took 26 innings in two games to beat Brooklyn the seventh time 8 3 couldn't cloak the Dodgers' disappointing slide

Muff Good Chance

They had a better chance than the Cubs to win last night Trailing by one run as they went to bat in the last of the ninth the Dodgers got a three all tie when Babe Phelps opened with a home run Pitcher Hugh Casey was called out on strikes but Peewee Reese tripled Then Joe Medwick with Cookie Lavagetto and Dixie Walker on base on walks dribbled a double play grounder to short That was the ball game The Dodgers made five errors and virtually gave the contest to the Cubs

The only other game in the National league saw the Pittsburgh Pirates outlast the Phillies to win 9 7 and rise into fifth place again

The day was a big but generally ineffectual interim in the American league where the Cleveland Indians stopped the New York Yankees 5 3 while Boston and Detroit were standing each other off in a double header

Rowe Loses No 1

The Red Sox routed Schoolboy Rowe for his first defeat in taking the first half of their doubleheader 11-7 despite three home runs by the Tiger sluggers But in the second game Hal Newhouser stopped the Red Sockers cold with four hits and seven strikeouts to win 5 1

The St Louis Browns eager to pass the Yanks had quite a struggle before they made it by downing the Philadelphia Athletics 12-10 in a night game John Berardino hit a triple and two singles to bat in six runs

In another night game the Washington Senators staved off a four run rally in the ninth by the Chicago White Sox to win 7 6 The Senators outhit the Sox 15 9

MILNAR WINS NO. 11 WITH AID OF TROSKY

Harder To Hurl Against Slipping Yankees Today.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND June 26 — The Cleveland Indians reluctantly wound up their series with the champion New York Yankees today—reluctantly because the champs have helped the Tribes prestige no end during the current stand

Cleveland had won seven of its 10 games with the Yanks this season and Mel Harder went to the mound in today's finale seeking to make it eight in 11 Trying to stave off a complete rout for the eastern club was Charley Ruffing

Hal and Al—first baseman Hal Trosky and pitcher Al Milnar—collaborated for Cleveland's 5 to 3 victory over the Yanks yesterday and perhaps Jupe Plus us rates a little credit

Trosky got his 16th and 17th home runs to tie Jimmy Foxx of the Boston Red Sox for the league leadership And Milnar notched his 11th win to tie teammate Boo Feller for the major league lead in victories

Jupe Plus us took a hand before the game delaying it 30 minutes, then held off long enough to make the Tribes victory official at the end of the fifth

Monte Pearson former Cleveland hurler who lasted only three innings was charged with the loss. He and Oral Hildebrand were touched for nine hits while Milnar yielded five

It was the fourth straight defeat for the champions, and the 12th victory for the Tribe in 14 games of the current home stand It put Cleveland 2½ games in front of Detroit and four ahead of Boston as the second and third place clubs divided a double header

There's Room for Women in Boxing—Says Woman Referee

Associated Press Feature Service

LOS ANGELES—The California athletic commission granted a woman a license to referee boxing bouts in the state and—

A precedent was broken. A storm broke.

For a long time Mrs. Belle Martell was the only woman who held a license to announce and time boxing bouts. She wanted one other license, however—to referee.

She took an examiantion from Boxing Inspector Willie Ritchie, a former world lightweight champion, but the result wasn't satisfactory. Ritchie gave her a hint or two — and she outscored her male rivals in the second test.

Recently she applied for a license. The commission, with little or no debate, granted it. The understanding was that Mrs. Martell was to work only amateur shows.

Then the storm broke. Boxing writers hopped on the commission for the move. Old time fight managers threw up their hands in scorn. Privately, the commission wondered if perhaps it shouldn't have given the matter a little more study.

Publicity? Oh Boy!

Mrs. Martell, a one time vaudeville performer, knows the value of showmanship and publicity. She reveled in the furore she had caused.

Her first job, at San Bernardino, went off without mishap. The fans seemed satisfied. A week later in Pasadena, Mrs. Martell worked one bout. She was to have refereed the entire show, but the commission—a little jittery by this time—sent orders to abandon the original plan. The fans at Pasadena, for the first time in their lives, saw a woman stand over a kayoed youth and count him out.

Belle Martell, 45, looks younger, is attractive. She has regular features, black hair and brown eyes, a nice figure. She was a dancer and contortionist in vaudeville and did some singing and speaking bits.

Some years ago she married Art Martell, an Australian. For nine years the two have been in boxing and today they have charge of the sport at the Los Angeles Athletic Club and stage weekly amateur cards at downtown Olympic auditorium. Belle helps her husband coach and condition the embryo pugilists.

Punches With Power

Once, in demonstrating a punch, she is credited with knocking out a young middleweight.

"Boxing," says Mrs. Martell "is a fine sport, and amateur clubs do a great thing in keeping boys and young men off the streets and out of mischief. It teaches self-defense, sportsmanship, clean living and the care of the body.

"Who," she demands "is better qualified to teach these things than a woman?"

She is well spoken, and distinctly feminine. She dresses tastefully, and designed her ring togs with great care. The costume is grey silk jersey, with blouse, full skirt and matching shorts—the latter, she explained, "so there will be no embarrassment when I climb in and out of the ropes."

McKechnie Misses Sluggers

Deacon Wants To Hear Bats of McCormick and Lombardi Working Again.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 26 — Manager Bill McKechnie of the league leading Cincinnati Reds longs to hear again the booming bats of his two power drivers, Frank McCormick and Ernie Lombardi.

The Deacon doesn't say such music to his ears always means a pennant championship but he believes it helps a lot and in preparing for a double header with Boston today he observed:

"Watch our smoke when the boys start to hit. They'll make it easier on the pitchers, not to mention my disposition."

Lombardi, whose potent clubbing led the league in 1938, dropped to .287 last year and thus far this season has staked out a percentage of .309. McCormick, with a sparkling .332 last year, draws up at .299.

Despite that, the Reds held a two game lead, after the Cubs took Brooklyn into camp a minute before midnight with an 8-3 triumph, and Rhinelanders hoped Paul Derringer and Whitey Moore would widen the margin today.

Sailor Bill Posedel and Richard Errickson were called by Casey Stengel for Boston.

DETROIT PLANS NIGHT GAMES NEXT YEAR

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 26 — Night baseball in the major leagues claimed another apparent convert today as the Detroit Tigers, who had been among the most stubborn "holdouts," started getting into line for play-under-lights.

Owner Walter O. Briggs has decided to prepare for the night game for the 1941 season and Briggs stadium is to be equipped for it.

Only New York, Washington and Boston still hold out against the night game.

State's Top-Flight Golfers Begin Play in Ohio Amateur

Sixty-Three Low Scorers To Face Champion Bob Servis in Later Rounds.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 26 — Top-flight mashie-swingers of the Buckeye domain teed off today at Shaker Heights Country club in the 18-hole qualifying round of the Ohio Golf association's 37th state amateur championship.

The 63 low scorers will join Bob Servis of Dayton, defending champion, in match play rounds the remainder of the week, with the 36-hole finals Sunday. Servis gets a place in the championship flight without a struggle, but he fired the qualifying round in hopes of snagging the medal—a feat he accomplished five times in the last 11 years.

About 80 names were on the board when the shooting started, but tee entrants were expected to boost the field to around 150. Some of the glamor of the annual classic is gone this year, for a host of the state's top-notchers are not entered.

Some of the hot-shots in the competition are John Wood of Cincinnati, who lost to Servis 10 and 9 in the finals last year, Bob Randolph of Dayton, former state high school title winner, and Don Shuck of Dayton, present holder of the scholastic laurels.

Two rounds of match play are scheduled Thursday and Friday, with one 18-hole semi-finals jaunt Saturday, and the 36-hole championship round Sunday.

TRUCE REPORTS HURT MARKET

Steels and Aircrafts Lose as Much as Two Points Today.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK June 26—Boardroom discussions of the possibility for an early truce between Great Britain and Germany sent stocks lower today.

Steels and aircrafts slipped as much as two points in the morning strengthened by frictions toward the fourth hour.

On the downside were U S Steel, Douglas Sperry, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, U S Rubber, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, DuPont, Eastman, Phillip Morris, American Telephone and Public Service of New Jersey.

Bonds also lost ground as did most commodities with the exception of rubber.

Observers noted declines in the price of both scrap copper and crude oil and it was reported the rate of steel operations was likely to be lowered next week when some of the smaller companies shut down for the Fourth of July vacation period.

U. S. CROW HUNTERS TO MEET AT KENTON

Convention To Be Held Friday and Saturday.

Special to The Star

KENTON June 26 — Frank (Pete) Runge Hardin county game warden today was brushing up on his marksmanship preparatory to defending his title of crow shooting champion of North America before the American Crow Hunters association here Friday and Saturday.

The crow shooting on farms of Hardin county will be an outstanding feature of the two day convention which is expected to attract between 300 and 400 sportsmen. A smoker will be held Friday evening and the crow shoot will be Saturday with election of officers and the selection of a convention site as important matters of business.

A movie is under way locally to have Kenton named the permanent convention city of the American Crow Hunters association, local leaders say.

WHEAT FLUCTUATES IN NARROW RANGE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO June 26 — Wheat prices fluctuated within a range of more than a cent today, with selling due to favorable weather reports by buying associated with reports of less promising yields and poorer quality of late maturing new wheat in the southwest. Prices closed slightly higher than Monday.

Trade was unsettled by rumors of the possibility of an early truce in the European war but most dealers found themselves unable to predict the effect of such a development on grain prices.

Wheat closed unchanged to ½ higher compared with yesterday July 78⅛ 78 September 78⅝-¾ corn unchanged to ⅛ lower July 60⅞ September 59 oats ⅛-¼ higher.
